Partie myself for a portila hard I abserts his belowed any common of the all the control of all their control of a one of those old ones, and the hunter who traces them must be on his guard. I found sometimes bands of four or five gorillas. When in bands these are very shy and then difficult to approach, as their hearing is acute. The adult animal is also shy, and I hunted all day at times without coming upon my quarry, when I felt sure that they were carefully avoiding me. When with the Isame, the males are feroolous toward the introder, and in that case I have never known a grown male to run off. When I surprised a pair of gorillas the male, if not cathing, was seated on a rock or leaning against a tree. The Isame feeding near by always gave the alarm, then running off with loud and sudden cries or shricks. Then the male sitting for a moment, with a suvarge frown on his face, alowly rising to his feet and hooking with plaring eyes at the intruder, begins to beat his breast and, lifting up his round bead, utters a frightful roar. Sometimes, like the lion, the gorilla to amuse himself roars and roars, and in a far distance I instook this for a muttering of thunder. One day I found that it was a male gorilla roaring to its female, who, after a while, could be heard with a weaker cry. The echoes swelled and died away from hill to hill, until the whole forest was full of the din. As I approached I could hear the deep drumlike sound caused by beating his breast with his huge fist. Presently I heard trees cracking, and saw through the woods how, every few minutes, a suppling was swing about and then broken off. While I was watching these actions, the animal, I suppose, became aware of the pressure of danger, for, presently a dead stance fedowed the When in bands these are very the woods how, every few minutes, a supling was swang about and then broken off. White I was watching these actions, the animal, I suppose, became aware of the presence of danger, for, presently a dead stience fellowed the loud roars, and when, gun in hand, I broke through the woods my gorills was gone, but I learned an interesting fact. In examining the wood I saw, for the first time, the cause of the great wear there is on the canine teeth of this animal which I could not account for before. Several trees of hard wood, from four to skx inches in diameter, had been broken by the gorilla, and I found that they had bit into the heart of these trees, and beaten out the pith. Now, by the peculiar form of gnaving, I saw at once that it was by this work that the very singular abrasion of the canines is caused. The strength of the gorilla is evidently enormous. The negroes never attack them with other weapons than guns, and in the part of the far interior where no guns have yet reached, this great beast roams unmolested the monarch of the forest. The gorilla has no other roar than that I have described. There is, beside the scream of the female, when alarmed, and a low kind of chick with which the watchfilm nother scens to call her child to her. The young ones have only a cry when in distress out their voice is harsh and sometimes is more a moan of pain than a child cry. The female gorilla has never more han one young at a time. I have found skulls where the mage canines were broken off. The negroes told one that such teeth were broken in combats between the males for the possession of a female. I think his quite probable. Such combats must form a magnificent and awful spectacle. The gorilla walks in an erect position with greater case than the chimpangee. When standing up his knees are bent at the joint outward and his body stoops forward. The common walk of a gorilla is not on his hind legs but on all fours. In this position the arms are so long that the head and breast are raised considerably and as he runs his hi

Average of 13 adult females.

As an interesting contrast I will give a summary of the measurements of a vast number of crunia by the late Dr.

S. G. Morton of Philadelphia. The average capacity of the adult negro and Australian is 75 cubic inches; lowest capacity is 58, 63 and 65 mehes, and was found among Hottentots and Australians. The average in thirteen adult gorillas was but 23 and 85 cubic inches. The cranial capacity of a young gorilla about a year or two old is from 20 to 22 cubic mehes. Supposing a subsequent development equal in measure to that of man, this woul! produce an animal of high grade of intelligence. But this development does not take place. The actual increase in brain in the adult gorilla or other anthropoid ages over the young is very slight. The head measures in size and weight with any but it is the bone which grows into a hard, firm brain-case. The brain itself remains almost without increase in weight or size. This shows conclusively that the animal has very limited powers of intelligence, and, from my own observations, I believe that the limit of that intelligence may be an indenlable human brain. Though there is a great dissimilarity between the bony frame of a man and of a gorilla, there is also an awful likeness, which, in the gorilla, resembles an exaggerated caricature of a human being.

CIVIL COURTS.

SUPREME COURT-CHAMBERS-Before Mr. Justice SUTHERLAND.
THE WOOD LEASES ONCE MORE—ME, CONNOLLY'S AF-

QUEST.
The People or rel. Pernando Wood set. R. B. Connolly, Controller.
This is a renewal of the argument deferred from last Tuesday, to give the nominal defendant an opportunity of contradicting the affidavit of Mr. Wood that Mr. Connolly had requested him to procure the mandamus.

Mr. Williams, on the call of the case, stated that the de

Mr. Williams, on the call of the case, stated that the defendants were ready.

Mr. Allen, on behalf of the relator, stated that he had understood that Mr. Williams intended to make a motion in the suit of The City agt. Wood for a renewal of the injunction vacated by Mr. Justice Barnard. He should have no objections if a small favor was also granted to them. The original afflicavit on which this motion was formed, was not served on them till after Mr. Shea had left the city. The affidavit which he understood to have been made by Mr. Comolly, had not been seen by Mr. Shea, as he was still absent from town, nor by Mr. Wood, as he had gone to Europe. What he asked was, that the argument be postponed, as it had previously been to oblige the other side, to give Mr. Shea an opportunity to be heard in explanation of the matter. He was present at the interview between Mr. Wood and Mr. Comolly, to which both had made affidavit. He (counsel) was willing to submit the papers, with leave to subsequently file the affidavit of Mr. Shea, or adjourn the argument (as he should prefer) to give Mr. Shea an opportunity of being heard.

Mr. O'Gorman said: On the part of the city I cannot consent to this application. This is a motion to set aside a peremptory mandamus, an exercise of the most extreme and most sudden purisificition of the court, and which is an order directing Mr. Counoily to execute these leases and so divide in effect the issues in the case in favor of the defendant. I consider this a practice involving a most dangerous sprinciple, and consider that it would be doing an injustice to the city which I represent, and to the profession of which I am a member, if by any consent I acceded to the idea that such a practice should in the future become usual, because of a precedent made on this occasion. I may be allowed afew noments to state what is the present condition of the case of the Mayor agt. Wood, which was commenced by the shag of a complaint some long time since, and also an injunction whereby the Controller was e

Mr. O'Gorman then read an aflidavit of Mr. Connolly, as follows:

State of New-York, City and County of New-York, as.: Richard B. Connolly of sald city, being daly aworn, doth depose and say that he is Controller of the City of New-York, and that he stated to Fernands Weed, on the day upon which he serder granted by Justice Barnard semanting the injunction restraining the Controller and his successor from executing or delivering the leases of the premises Nos. Its and II? Nassansat, for the use of the Law Department of the City, that he would not execute said leases at that time, and upon said Wood hating asked nion of a peremptory mandames to that effect were served upon him, whether he would then execute said leases. It his deponent stated, to said Wood hat he supposed he would be obtained to ober the order and directions of the Supreme Court.

Sworn to before me this 14th day of May, 1857.

Sworn to before me this 14th day of May, 1857.

When to before me this 14th day of May, 1857.

Mr. O'Gorman then said that he thought the afflidavit of Mr. Wood, which was used on the other side, did not tend to clear up the difficulties of the case as to the facts, or state the facts correctly before the Court. Counsel tend to clear up the difficulties of the case as to the facts, or state the facts correctly before the Court. Counsel read from the Revised Statutes on the subject of mandamus, showing that two writs are required to be issued, and argued that the act contemplated that, before a man is compelled to do a thing required by mandamus, which must always be doubtful, he should have an opportunity to lay before the Court his reasons for not doing it.

Mr. Wilhams followed, reading from Lord Chief-Justice Mansfield, Justices Story and Marshall, to show that the issuing of a peremptory writ in this manner was in the teeth of the statutory provisions on the subject, and said they could not consent that the proceeding should have an hour's delay.

an hour's delay.

Judge Alleu claimed that the same courtesy should be extended to one side as the other—that, as an opportunity was given to Mr. Connoily, Mr. Shea, who was present at the interview between Wood and Connoily, ought to have the same chance to put in an affidavit.

Judge Sutherland—Even if Mr. Connoily had given a written, consent, what difference would it neke! Mr. Connoily is not the Corporation, but an officer of the Corporation. He cannot consent away the rights of the Corporation, in officer can do that. A contest in affidavits as to whether Mr. Connoily did or did not consent, I think, would be wrong. I thought the object in postponing was out of courtesy to Mr. Connoily. If I postpone this case, it will be virtually admitting that the question whether Mr. Connoily did or did not consent is important. I cannot do that; it is immaterial. I think it would be indecorous for the Court to adjourn over for that. What I consider important is, whether the persuppory mandanus was sissued regularly; whether proper notice was given to the Corporation. It is cicar that the Controller had no power to give that consent, and therefore no no tice was given. Hence the mandanus must be set aside.

The Mayor, &c., set Fernande Wood.

In this case Mr. Williams applied for a stay of proceedings, pending the appeal from Judge Barnard's order vacating the injunction. Judge Satherland, after some discussion with Mr. Williams, granted it, Judge Allen refusing to appear in the matter. Judge Barnard has already granted a temperary injunction, with an order to show cause, in the Pullman case; so that these cases are resolved to nearly the same pesition they were in two weeks ago.

PLEADINGS IN LIBEL SUITS.

given rise repeatedly to disputes between the two States. In 18th a treaty was entered into between them of a peculiar character with regard to the river below Spuyten. Duyvil Creek. It gave the fee of the lands under water to the middle line to the adjacent State, but gave exclusive jurisdiction of the river and hay to New-York, leaving, however, a right to the wharves and attachments to the Jersey shore to New-Jersey. Since then, various encronchments to the river and by laye been made under authority of New-Jersey. The New Jersey Central Endinoust has within the last few years obtained a grant and commenced filling up some 800 acres of what was formerly the bay, some of it being quite deep water. The State of New-York, through its Attorney-General, has commenced an action to stop their further proceedings, and compel them to remove what they have already built, resting it on the ground that it is an impediment to the navigation of these waters, and therefore a muisance. The case involves an immense interest, as a great part of the present New-Jersey shore is land filled in below low-water mark, and the piers of at least three other railroad companies are recent constructions below that line. The defendants in this case damurred to the complaint, averring substantially that the matter was beyond the jurisdiction of New-York, being a contract between two states, sovereigns in respect to each other, and the subject matter being one of the riparian rights reserved by the treaty to New-Jersey.

The Court below sustained the demurrer, but the Court on appeal has reversed that decision, not, however, deciding the most important question. They hold that the courts of this State have turisdiction under the case, as stated in the complaint, but refuse to enter upon the question as to the relative tights of the two States until courts of this State mare formation as to enter upon the stated in the complaint, but refuse to enter upon the question as to the relative rights of the two States until it is properly raised by an averment in the defendants answer, that they are acting under the authority of the State of New Jersey.

NEW-YORK THEATER-THE WORRELL SISTERS. At the New-York Theater the Three Graces of Burlesque, Sophie, Jennie, and Irene Worrell, are attracting arger and still larger audiences as the season wears on On Thursdaylevening the attendance was particularly good, and the performance particularly vivacious and pleas, ant. The pretty and poetic extravaganza of "The Eives, or The Statue Bride" was neted, the cast including the three sisters, and Mr. Donnelly, Mr. Duan, Mr. Weish Edwards, Mrs. Wright, Miss Gay, and others, and was followed by the familiar musical buriesque of "Cinderella." The pieces cannot be thought to need description; nor, for that matter, does the acting of the Worrell Sisters. These lively and talented young ladies—who originally made their appearance in this city last senson, at what was then Wood's Theater, and subsequently acted at the Broadway—have grown steadsly in favor with that portion of the public which craves dramatic merriment, until at last they have secured what, in religious parlance, may be termed a considerable following. They are pretty, and lively, and innocently mischievous; and they sing, and dance, and pleasantly prattle through the lightest of plays; and, while they command no especial attention on the score of dramatic art, they inspire the kindest interest and sympathy. Their style of entertamment is admirably well suited to the Summer season in this city, and they merit the success they are rapidly achieving. Still further improvements have been made in the New-York Theater since last we wrote about it; and the interior is now as next and attractive as it can well be made. The stage, too, looks next and clean. Our best hope is that this strict attention to cleanliness, both on the stage and off, may not be relaxed, and that no play, and no performer tainted with indehency will be allowed a hearing. Thus managed, with due infusion of fresh extravaganzas and clever buriesque performers, the enterprise of the Worrell Sisters can scarcely fail to win the amplest support. As a final remark, let us once more protest against the floral-offering distemper which appears to have broken out at this house with more than usual virulence. Testimonial baskets of flowers are pretty th On Thorsday Jevening the attendance was particularly good, and the performance particulary vivacious and pleas,

DRAMATIC NOTES.

There will be a Matinée on Saturday at the New-York Theater, when will be presented "The Fool of the Family," and "Aladdin."

There will be a Matinée on Saturday at the Broadway Theater, when Mr. Hackett will enact Falstoff, in "The Merry Wives of Windsor."

Messrs, Kelly & Leon have taken to burlesqueing the Japs. "Ham-katch-her-sad and Cheek-y and Son" is the title of a funny travestie, now presented nightly at No. 720 Broadway. Another leading attraction here is Eph Horn's "Woman's Rights Tragedy."

The Ristori Matinée on Thursday, in aid of the Southern Relief Association, attracted to the French Theater

The Ristori Matinee on Thursday, in aid of the Southern Relief Association, attracted to the French Theater an andience that comfortably filled the house. The Matinee of Wednesday, in aid of the Dramatic Fund Society, yielded, we learn, about $1,200 for the fund.

Mr. Juignet, who is to take a benefit on Saturday evening, at the French Theater, advises his friends, in a published letter, that the last season at this theater was very unfortunate for him, and expresses the hope that his benefit may make some amends for the losses he has sustained in endeavoring to minister to the amusement of the French theatrical community. We cordially second the hope.

Mr. Brougham will take his Farewell Benefit, at the Olympic Theater, to-night, and will terminate his engagement here to-night. On Monday next comes the long promised novelty of "Treasure Trove." The authorship of this drama is not officially announced. In character—if we may judge from a printed synopsis of incidents—"Treasure Trove" is intensely melo-dramatic. It appears, also, to abound with local scenes and hits, Blackwell's Island, Saratogs, the Wall-st. Stock Exchange, Grace Church, and divers equally familiar places, are to be reproduced. We hear that the most elaborate scenic preparations have been made, to give the new drama all the advantages of a thorough stage set. scenic preparations have been made, to give the new drains all the advantages of a thorough stage set.

ing Gazette of April 25:

A Mass.—The largest mass of copper taken from the Isle
Royale Mine in a long time was sent to the smellting works a few days ago. It weighed 2,580 pounds.
Ossipee.—A party of men are still at work bringing up a long ditch to drain the water from the proposed workings on the new amygdaloid. Nothing of interest has transpired there of late.
Ogima.—Orders have been received to reduce the working force to a few men, who will be encaused in apparent

Ogima.—Orders have been received to reduce the work-ing force to a few men, who will be engaged in opening ground. The mine is said to be in splendid appearance and working condition. The stamps are running again, and Spaulding's new washers give unlimited satisfaction.

Kearsarge.—Operations have been suspended for the present, on account of the great flow of water in the puts. The conglomerate has been cut in several places, but only an ordinary show of copper found. A good-looking belt of epidote (if an epidote belt can be called good-looking) has been cut.
